

HANDS-ON PRESENTATION
DENTURE SETUP COURSE
WORKING IN BALANCED OCCLUSION

KRISTI NEFF, CDT

Saturday, November 9, 2019

9:00 AM - 11:45 PM

Sponsor: Dentsply Sirona Lab

CE: 3 Scientific

This program concentrates on the concepts of anterior and posterior tooth arrangements while learning the subtle differences nature employs between various face/arch/tooth forms and their relations to esthetic and functional tooth positions. The tooth arrangement of Trubyte Portrait Anteriors and obtaining Bi-lateral balanced occlusion of Portrait IPN 10o Anatoline posteriors will be demonstrated.

Objectives

Upon completion of this course each attendee will:

1. Learn the various anterior tooth molds and their arrangement in the arch.
2. Learn the various posterior tooth designs and the correct articulator settings needed to achieve bilateral balanced occlusion with Trubyte posterior teeth.
3. Learn personalized anterior set-up techniques based on facial characteristics, natural oral landmarks and factors of denture contours which benefit the patient.
4. Learn the subtle characteristics nature employs between various face/arch/tooth forms and their relationship to esthetic, functional, tooth positions.

Kristi is currently employed with Dentsply Sirona, US Lab, as a Technical Specialist with over 35 years experience in the dental laboratory field. For the first 10 years of her career she trained in both fixed and removables prosthetics. She then transitioned and was responsible for processing and overseeing all cases lab to chairside.

Kristi joined our lab team in 2002, upon the launch of our Eclipse® Prosthetic Resin System. Kristi has become proficient with all of our Dentsply Sirona products lines and has become an integral part of our Technical Center and our new Dentsply Sirona training Academy. She now performs over 100+ trainings annually for Fixed and Removables CDT'S, Clinicians, University Faculty and Students, and Soldiers in the United States Military.

Specializing in the Removables technical field, Kristi has developed strategies and efficient solutions to troubleshoot customer challenges and is proud to work alongside of our Dentsply Sirona customers and sales force daily. She is a Certified Dental Technician and issues credit on behalf of Dentspy Sirona Clinical Affairs team to thousands of clinicians and technicians globally.

Limited space available. Additional registration fee required.